Pastor Nelson's Farewell Sermon

Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Filled as the Rev. William J. Nelson makes leave-taking address—Farewell Reception at Church Tuesday Evening.

Before an audience that filled the church auditorium the Rev. William J. Nelson, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, preached his farewell sermon Sunday evening. He selected his text from John 3:30, "He Must Increase, But I Must Decrease."

He referred to the preaching of John the Baptist as the heralded Christ which emphasized an ever increasing Christ and a decreasing John, as the ideal of every true pastor's work. He called to witness the knowledge of the congregations to which he had preached for seven years that this had always been his dominating moment. Touching feelingly upon the intimate and tender relations that sprang out of the usual routine of a pastor's work in the sick room, the house of sorrow, the place of worship and instruction, he said that the memories would ever be with him wherever he would be or whatever may be his lot. He reminded his congregation that after all—like the river, "men may go and may come but the Church of the Living Christ goes on to its grand and final consummation." He urged his hearers to grasp the deeper vision of the real church.

There were many evidences that he had touched the hearts of his listeners and there is no doubt that as he will treasure many delightful memories of his pastorate here, Kingston will also remember him. Owing to the sudden death of his son, Richard, the farewell reception that was to be held Monday evening in the Bible school room of the church. The congregation and friends have been urged to be present. There is no doubt that they will respond in large numbers. A pleasing and suitable program with refreshments has been provided for and prominent speakers of Kingston will have a part in the program.

Pastor Nelson is due in Paterson, N. J., for next Sunday's service where he will assume the pastorate of the First Lutheran Church. The recent bereavement that has come to him and his family has endeared him to his old congregation as he thus takes his farewell of them. No doubt his new congregation will reflect the sympathy that has been so widespread and sincere.

Smashes Record, Captures Cup

Venice, Sept. 26 (AP).—Flight Lieut. S. N. Webster, in a supermarine Napier S-5 monoplane, today smashed all existing seaplane speed in capturing the famous Schneider cup for Great Britain from Italy, which had held it for the past year as a result of its victory over the United States at Hampton Roads, in 1926.

Lieutenant Webster averaged 453.282 kilometres or 281.488 miles an hour as compared with the record of 246.496 miles an hour established by Major Mario de Bernardi of the Italian Royal Air Force, who won the race last year.

Flight Lieut. O. E. Worsley, also of Great Britain, finished second, averaging 439.472 kilometres, or 272.912 miles an hour, also exceeding the record established last year by Major de Bernardi.

Lieut. S. M. Kinkead, of Great Britain, the third British entrant, and the three Italian competitors, Major Mario de Bernardi, Captain F. Guazzelli and Captain Ferrarini, were forced to abandon the race.

Lieut. Kinkead was forced to stop after completing the third lap after having made a speed of 29 miles an hour. Captain Ferrarini gave up apparently because of engine trouble.

It was estimated that more than 250,000 persons watched the competition which was held over a 250 kilometre (217.483 mile) course along the front of the Lido bathing beach, the course consisting of seven circuits.

Cold Wave Sweeps Eastward

First Snow of Season in Wyoming and Colorado Prairies—Other Points Report Cold Rain and Sudden Drop.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 26 (AP).—Fed by freezing temperatures in the Central Rocky Mountain states that brought the first snow of the season to Wyoming and Colorado prairies, a cold wave today swept eastward with the prospect it would continue into the upper Mississippi valley.

The cold wave struck northern Wyoming yesterday to change rain to snow after one of the hottest days in weeks. The storm continued throughout the day at Newcastle and extended south and east of Denver where snow melted as it fell. Thermometers dropped to 34 degrees above zero here.

Points in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri reported a cold rain last night with the mercury slowly approaching 50 degrees. Forecasts called for thermometers to sink to the lower thirties today as far east as northern Wisconsin with rain and possibly snow.

Forecasts for the western side of the continental divide called for generally fair cool weather while Montana and the Dakotas reported temperatures above the freezing point. Generally unsettled conditions prevailed in the southwest.

The cold wave was scheduled to continue in the middle west tomorrow with higher temperatures promised for this section.

Court House Walls 5½ Feet Thick

Workmen Compelled to Drill Way Through Thick Walls in Providing Room for Storage of Records at Court House.

The accumulation of records and documents acquired through many years of criminal work in Ulster county has overtaken the filing space of the office of the district attorney in the court house and additional room is being made for the storage of records at the rear of the office where a doorway is being cut through the wall, giving entrance to an unused room in the old jail building. This room will be used for the storing of records and papers.

In cutting the doorway through the walls, workmen found something of the thoroughness with which the old stone buildings of a number of years ago were built. The original walls of the old court house were thick and when the old jail was built at the rear another stone wall was laid up against the old court house wall so that in order to cut the doorway through, the workmen were compelled to drill their way through both of these walls. Before the entrance was made the men found it necessary to cut through five and one-half feet of stone wall.

Considerable time would have been required for a prisoner confined to that particular cell to have gained freedom by digging through the confining wall.

5,000 Lives Lost In Tidal Wave

Hongkong, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Exchange Telegraph here announces receipt of a report that 5,000 persons perished when an immense tidal wave and typhoon struck Yungkong, Kwangtung province, 150 miles southwest of this city, on September 10.

Twenty thousand homes were damaged and 400 junks and sampans destroyed, the report said. The total losses estimated at $1,000,000.

The report from Hongkong would indicate that the tidal wave and typhoon, which took 400 lives, injured 2,300 and caused tremendous material damage on the Japanese island of Kiushiu had first struck the Chinese coast along the lower part of Kwangtung province.

The storm which ravaged the Kiushiu coastal cities came from across the east China sea and traveled northeast. Hours after its arrival there was expended in Kiushiu, the tail of the typhoon whipped towns on the main Japanese island of Honshu, causing minor casualties and damage before passing out to sea.

The distance from Hongkong to Nagasaki, one of the cities on Kiushiu struck by the typhoon, is approximately 1,070 miles.

Children's Heart Tag Day Saturday

To Be Conducted in Kingston for Benefit of Volunteers of America in Aid of Its Civic Work.

The Volunteers of America, founded by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth in 1895, a national organization having one or more headquarters in every state, has been given permission to hold a "Children's Heart Tag Day" in Kingston on Saturday next as has been done in other nearby communities.

The affair will be sponsored by the following well known leaders in civic and clerical circles: The Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley; the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seelye; the Rev. Father Scully; Mrs. Edgar N. Palen; Mrs. Rodney B. Osterhoudt; Mrs. Ray Powley; Mrs. C. E. Wonderly.

The Volunteers of America have many activities, especially in the large centers where the needs are great: Children's homes, day nurseries, homes for working girls, for the aged, poor boys' clubs, employment bureaus, etc. Mrs. Booth's many years of voluntary service in the prisons of the United States as well as her war work in Europe is generally known. Here were the first systematic efforts ever made to help spiritually the men behind prison walls or to look after his family often left destitute while he served his sentence.

Of Mrs. Booth's good work President Coolidge says: "I have so long been familiar with the work of the Volunteers of America and have entertained so high a personal regard for General and Mrs. Booth and their associates, that I have a special satisfaction in expressing the hope that your fine endeavors may continue to be amply supported by the public."

The work of the Volunteers of America is supported entirely by voluntary contributions. Tags are to be sold largely in the residence districts for whatever the purchaser is willing to give. No sum will be too large and none too small to help this worth while work.

Sacco-Vanzetti Followers Blamed

For the Two Attempts to Wreck Trains at the Time the American Legion Good Will Tourists Were En Route From Paris.

Nice, Sept. 26 (AP).—Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers were believed by the police today to have been behind two attempts to wreck trains in the Riviera region at the time the American Legion good will tourists were en route here from Paris.

Thus far there is no clue to the persons who planted the bomb that wrecked fifteen yards of track near Golfe-Juan Saturday midnight, some hours before the Legion train was due, but the authorities are pressing their investigation all along the coast, from Marseilles to Mentone.

The second attempt, also believed to have been aimed at the Legionnaires, was made at La Bocca, near Cannes, where a bomb, which failed to explode, was planted.

Prompt work by the track inspection force averted disaster in both cases.

When the good will train pulls out late today for Genoa, Italy, it will be heavily guarded and hundreds of track walkers will be on the alert to see that there is no obstruction on the line.

The Legionnaires today were visiting Monte Carlo.

Police who investigated the finding of a pile of boulders on the railroad track near Monte Carlo decided that they were not placed there intentionally but had rolled down the hillside after a rain. When the pile of rocks was first discovered it was believed that they had some connection with the bomb explosions.

Officers Have Exciting Time Following Crash

Auto Accident on Flatbush Road Followed by Appearance of Two Negroes Who Kept Things Lively Until Lodged in Jail—Women Fined by Justice Webber.

The State Troopers at East Kingston and Sheriff Rice had a lively time Saturday afternoon on the Flatbush road near the entrance to the Livingston place. Trooper Martin was called there following a crash between a Hudson car driven by Joseph Malinagi and a truck of Samuel Astalos. Mr. Astalos suffered from an injury to his hand and William Miller, an employee on the highway, suffered a fractured collar bone. Dr. John F. Larkin, who responded, had Miller taken to the Benedictine Hospital.

Arriving on the scene to investigate the collision the Troopers found plenty of excitement for a time. Malinagi was placed under arrest on a charge of operating the car without the necessary license and with injuring a person while operating the car.

Then along came Mary Tennant, a colored lassie from East Kingston. She arrived on the scene of the accident and stopped to look the situation over. She was operating a Chandler car and Trooper Martin after looking her over placed her under arrest on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. She also had no license to operate the car but said she had one at home.

Alice Offers Advice.

Mary had been quietly disposed of when on the scene came Alice Taylor, also colored and a resident of East Kingston. Alice began to give Mary some good advice and Mary responded it and said so in words of brilliant hue. Then Alice took offense at the words of Mary and struck Mary in the face. As a result Alice was placed under arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree.

By that time the Troopers found their hands full of prisoners and word was sent to the sheriff's office and Sheriff Rice and Deputy Ralph Constable responded. They found things progressing nicely on the arrival and all three of the prisoners were hustled into the sheriff's car and brought to jail.

Court House In Uproar.

During the time the three were being booked and their records taken the court house was kept in an uproar.

Mary, shedding large quantities of tears, was busy at the telephone seeking someone to come up quickly and get her out of jail, looking for someone to go home and get her license cards and various other things.

Alice, smiling and very talkative, was informing everyone that she would "spank" Mary before the night was over and also informing Sheriff Rice of her former visit to the county jail when she served twenty-one days about a year ago for her part in a shooting and cutting match. Alice said someone had drawn a gun on her but she beat him to it and after getting her victim on the floor, had "went to work cutting on him with a knife."

All three were held for a hearing later before Justice of the Peace Walter Webber.

How Jail Affects Women.

Finally Mary and Alice were locked up in the women's jail in separate sections. As the doors closed on Mary she let out several loud piercing cries of agony while Alice continued to laugh and talk.

Women Fined.

Later when arraigned before Judge Webber, Alice Taylor was fined $25 and sentenced to thirty days in the Ulster county jail, the serving of which was suspended.

Mary Tennant was fined $5 for operating a car without having her license with her and Joseph Malinagi was held in $100 bail for a hearing before Judge Webber tonight.

Claims Shooting Was an Accident

Youth Confesses Killing Girl Friend But Insists It Was Accidental—Says Trigger Must Have Caught On Something.

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP).—Frank Schlieben, 18, called the "tough kid" of his neighborhood, is being held for the slaying of 16-year-old Stephanie Celac, a girl who loved to dance and whose body, a bullet through the heart, was found on a deserted street corner early yesterday.

Schlieben, police said, confessed shooting the girl, using a pistol with which a few hours before the girl's mother had threatened to commit suicide because of the late hours Stephanie had been keeping. Schlieben, however, insisted the shooting was an accident.

"She dared me to shoot her," the youth said. "I pointed it to scare her. The trigger must have caught on something."

Police learned that Mrs. Celac had pleaded with "Stella" to stop going to dances at late hours, and especially to break off her friendship with Schlieben. She threatened to kill herself if Stephanie didn't obey.

"All right, mother, don't worry any more," the girl is said to have told her mother. "You're worth more to me than Frankie, and that's saying a lot."

Stephanie then took the pistol with which her mother had threatened to kill herself, and went out to meet Schlieben and "break off" their relationship.

There were words. Schlieben took the pistol from her and pointed it at her.

"I dare you!" said Stephanie. There was a shot. Stephanie, who liked late hours, who liked Frankie but who liked her mother best of all, fell.

They found Schlieben at the home of relatives, asleep, and arrested him.

Nagay Assaulted While He Slept

Awakened by Someone Pounding His Head With a Brick—Accuses Three Men Who Were Inmates of the Same House.

John Nagay, employed on the Lynch, brickyard, was suddenly awakened from sleep Sunday night by someone pounding him on the head with a brick. Nagay thus rudely awakened was confronted by three men who demanded his money. He refused to comply with the request and one of the three men struck him a blow on the head with a brick which badly cut and crushed his head. Summoning his landlord, Mike Kummel, assistance was soon at hand.

Nagay was rushed to the Benedictine Hospital where Dr. John F. Larkin examined the injuries. It is not known if the skull is fractured or not but from examinations made by Dr. Larkin at the hospital it is thought the injuries are severe cuts and bruises although an x-ray will be taken to determine the extent of the injuries.

From the story told, three men who boarded at the house with Nagay were the men who committed the assault and attempted to rob Nagay. John Boss, 49, Paul Helle, 33, and Steve Ruby, three husky Austrians, were later picked up in one of the barns at the yard and charged with the crime. Deputy Sheriff Watzka located the men, and brought them to the jail about midnight.

Nagay claims that he went to bed and shortly after he was asleep he was awakened and found the three men there. One of them demanded his money and when he refused to hand over his pay amounting to about $60 he was attacked.

New Acts Planned By Crime Board

Outstanding Among Proposals of Crime Commission Are a First Offender Act and a Fence Act.

Buffalo, Sept. 26 (AP).—A first offender act which will serve to regenerate an erring youth rather than make of him an habitual criminal, and a fence act that will reach all handlers of stolen goods are outstanding among proposals which the New York state crime commission is preparing for submission to the legislature in 1928, State Senator Caleb E. Baumes of Newburgh, chairman of the commission, revealed today.

Senator Baumes said the commission is also planning an act that will permit a district attorney to comment on the failure of a defendant to take the witness stand and a probation act that will wipe out existing defects and shortcomings in the present system. Senator Baumes is in Buffalo for a conference with respect to the commission's program. He said the entire commission will meet in New York October 5th and 6th. One day will be devoted to a public hearing on the proposed fence act. District attorneys of the greater city and adjacent counties will appear before the commission.

On completion of the hearings in New York the commission will hold other sittings throughout the state until the holidays.

Little Girl Shot to Death

New York, Sept. 26 (AP).—A seven year old girl was shot to death as she slept today by a 65 year old man in revenge for the elopement of his daughter, the police allege.

Angeline Constance was asleep at her home in East 108th street, when she was killed by a shotgun discharged, according to the police, by Biaggio Arsenio, who escaped over the roof tops. Relatives told the police that Arsenio was enraged over the recent elopement of his daughter with a young man introduced by the slain child's parents.

The weapon was found in the girl's bedroom. The police also discovered a shotgun in the apartment of the girl's parents and another in rooms occupied by relatives of the dead girl across the hall.

Police learned that there had been violent scenes when Arsenio called at the little girl's home several times and upbraided her parents. When he called again last night, police said, he was driven away by shotguns pointed at him by the girl's father and another relative.

When the girl's father left for work today, the police said, Arsenio waited at the doorway and slipped into the bedroom. The mother was absent at the time.

Mrs. Julia Saltarelli, an aunt of the girl, said she heard the shot and saw Arsenio climbing the ladder to the roof. The hysterical weeping of women tenants caused a passerby to think the house was on fire and he turned in an alarm. The firemen discovered the body.

Shower of Bills Still a Mystery

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP).—"It isn't raining rain, you know, it's raining dollar bills."

Thus did John Sutherland, 16, paraphrase Al Johnson's one-time "hit" song last night as he found himself in a shower of currency while walking through an alley near the Sheridan Plaza Hotel.

First a screen fell from a window, narrowly missing him. Then followed the shower of fluttering banknotes in $1, $10 and $20 denominations.

As Sutherland stopped to pick up the bills there came raining down a roll of currency—about $450, he guessed. He picked it up from the ground and as he did so up rushed an excited stranger, grabbed it and ran away.

Sutherland started picking up the loose bills. A voice from above ordered him to bring the money into the hotel lobby. He did. A second stranger there picked the handful of bills from his fingers and vanished. Police found the room from which the money dropped was in the name of "T. Maad" and "N. Harris," both of whom disappeared.

Who, what and why today remained a mystery.

SAHARA BLONDE RULES IN HAREM

Sheik Still Prefers Bride He Won at Cards Over 300 Brunettes.

Paris.—A blonded sheik of the Sahara, who shipped into Paris to do a bit of shopping for his harem, recalled a romance of exotic romance. A year or two before the big war El Ghoul, pasha of Marrakech in Morocco, came up to Wally for a rest and met a rich Turk who proved to be an inveterate gambler. In three days El Ghoul cleaned out his co-religionist from Constantinople, down to his last piastre.

"I am sorry, my brother, but I have nothing more to play," the Turk exclaimed in despair.

"You have forgotten something, my friend," El Ghoul cooed, and his deep brown eyes sparkled as he pictured in his mind the Turk's young Circassian wife with blond hair and blue eyes who had thrown languorous glances at him through the slit in her tarbush when he had given a passing glimpse of her that morning.

One Look Won the Pasha's Heart. The Circassian's glance had set him on fire, as the Moroccan sheiks love the blond Mohammedan women from the Caucasus even more than do the Turks, and he was ready to sell his soul for her.

"I shall give you a chance to win all your money back," he whispered to the Constantinople brother, pushing $100,000 in golden Turkish pounds on the table. I shan't bet it all on one out of the cards against your wife."

The fat Turk was too passionate a gambler to resist, and with huge drops of perspiration rolling off his forehead, he drew a card.

"The three of spades," he gasped and the sheik smiled craftily.

El Ghoul, as cool as an oasis on his Sahara, drew his card.

"The ace of clubs," the Turk choked, and then he burst into sobs. He sobbed so long and so bitterly that El Ghoul, who is quite a diplomat in his own way, found it almost impossible to console him.

She Chose the Winner.

"It was the will of Allah, my friend," he explained, encouragingly, "but I shall fly in the face of Providence and give you another chance. We shall call your wife, explain the circumstances and tell her to choose between us. If she prefers to remain with you I shall give you both my blessing and go on my way. And if she prefers to go with me."

The young Circassian beauty took only one look at her fat, gray-haired and red-eyed husband, and ten looks at the tall, masterful Moroccan sheik, holding the sack of gold. She blushing made a curtsy to the Pasha, stepped beside him and they walked out together.

"The peace of God be with you, friend," he said gravely to the Turk. "Peace with you," his ex-wife echoed.

The blonde knew her stuff, for she is still No. 1 wife in a harem of 300 brunettes, and that is going some after 14 years.

The Pasha comes up to Paris every summer to buy her silks and perfumes.

German Children Form New Juvenile Republic

Berlin.—Germany now has a juvenile republic. Some two thousand workers' children from all parts of Germany have been assembled near Kiel, on the Baltic shore, and have been organized as the "Kinderrepublik Seekamp" (Children's Ocean Camp Republic).

The project was devised by the German labor unions. The children are to enjoy four weeks of sunshine, air, and salt water bathing. Some 100 tents have been erected to accommodate them and their caretakers. Thirty workers' wives from Kiel have volunteered to do the cooking.

The boys and girls have a parliament with a delegate from each tent. Each tent has its own local government.

Kilkenny Cats Give

Up Bellicose Ways

Kilkenny, Ireland.—The cats of Kilkenny virtually have given up fighting. No one knows why, but the Kilkenny cats no longer chase the dogs out of town. A lieutenant of police told a correspondent that while an occasional cat fight fills some neighborhood with noise and fur, the Kilkenny cat has lost his reputation.

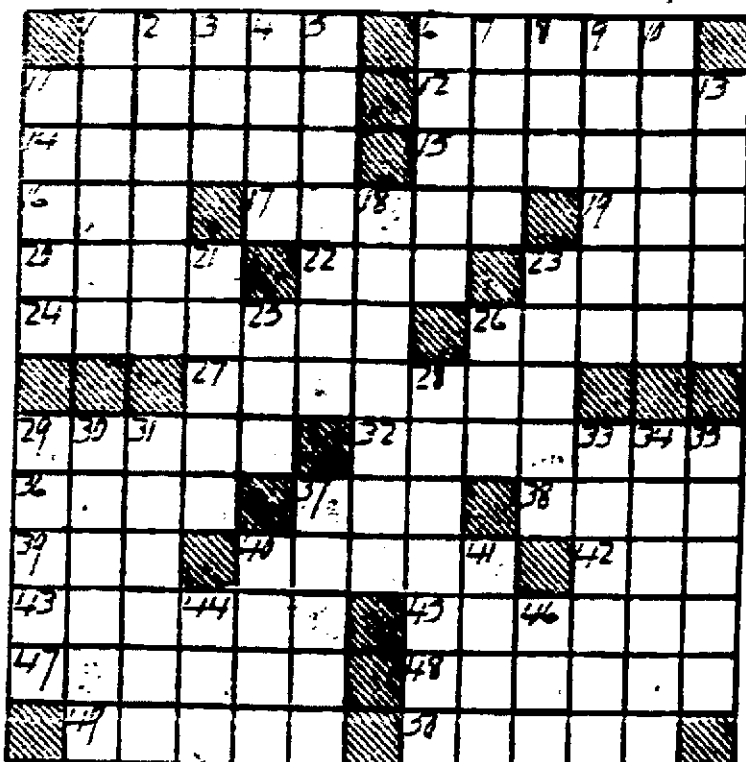

Nevertheless, the inhabitants of this cathedral town say the old cats fought enough for several generations before they quit. Tradition has it that after some of the old-time fights only the claws remained to tell the tale.

RECENT HAPPENINGS IN MOTOR TRADE CIRCLES

Graham Brothers, a division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., announces the introduction of a new line of six-cylinder motor coaches. Higher speed and generally improved performance are said to result from several new features. These include a powerful new six cylinder engine, four-wheel Lockheed hydraulic brakes, four speed transmission and ball-bearing cam and lever steering. Improved riding comfort results from a better distribution of weight as well as adoption of three stage progressive type rear spring construction and advances in seat design.

The winning of the 220 mile South American race from Santiago to Paimaravida, Chile, recently, by a Chandler Six demonstrated the remarkable performance qualities of the Chandler power plant. The race, organized by "El Diario Ilustrado" of Chile, was under the direct charge of the Santiago Automobile Club and covered the distance from the Chilean capital to Paimaravida through rugged territory. Carlos Paché, driving a Chandler Six, made the run in five hours and thirty-five minutes. The second car to cross the finish line came in twelve minutes later.

Demand for the Nash car, which since the introduction of the present new series on June 23, has been the greatest in the history of Nash Motors, makes necessary expansion at three of the company's plants, involving expenditures for buildings and additional equipment of approximately $1,200,000. Increased production will follow completion of the expansion program.

Word of signal achievements of Marmon automobiles, not only in speed competitions but in contests of beauty, endurance, flexibility and comfort has been received by the Marmon Motor Car Company from numerous cities in the United States and abroad. Outstanding among these honors is the double triumph in France of a standard Marmon Eight collapsible coupe which won first place in a road race from Paris to Deauville and immediately afterward was awarded the Grand Prize of Honor in a contest of beauty, comfort and flexibility at the world famous French resort. Both events were won in competition with a large number of cars of both European and American make. Two hundred and ten descendants and kinfolk of the five brothers who founded Studebaker business in 1852 gathered together in reunion at South Bend last week. More than fifty of those attending bore the name "Studebaker". The meeting of the Studebaker Clan probably exceeded both in number of attendants and in enthusiasm any similar reunion ever held in America. The visitors came from all parts of America. Nearly every state in the union was represented. The majority drove their motor cars and the majority of the motor cars bore the name of the company that was founded 75 years ago and which is celebrating its diamond jubilee anniversary this year.

After 15 hours, in which an Auburn 8-88 sedan was under water, the car started and was driven to repair quarters under its own power. Representatives of the Auburn Automobile Company were running off a stock car endurance speed test that, on completion, broke 37 existing records up to 5,000 miles and established 24 new ones. The test started July 28th. On the following Sunday at 2 p. m. it started to rain. Wade Morton, who was in charge of the test, started for the commissary headquarters in his Auburn sedan. Leaving the center of the great race course, he drove under the bottom of the decline an onrush of water from the storm submerged it; the engine stalled and Morton waded out of the roadway waist deep. Unsuccessful efforts were made to bring the car out of its watery bed, with tows from other cars. From either end men waded water more than waist deep to raise the car that it might be moved, but their efforts were fruitless. Fifteen hours later, with the aid of two tractors, the car was pulled out of its bed of mire. Morton crawled aboard, pressed the starter and the car started.

How Graphite is Mined
The mining and purification of graphite used in lead pencils is not unlike the process of silver ore. It is generally found mixed with quartz, mica and mica. It is necessary to pulverize the rock with crushing machinery, which is followed by the extraction of the graphite. Before the graphite is mixed with the clay it is strained through very fine silk sieves, so that particles the least bit coarse may be removed.

RALLY DAY AT ALBANY AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, October 2, will be Rally Day at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. There will be a special program at all services and a glorious welcome to everybody. The Bible school will hold interesting exercises at 11:45 a. m., at which C. W. Latimer of Albany will speak and the Junior Melody Makers' orchestra will play. The classes of the school are aiming to see how many of them can have a perfect attendance. All who do not go to Sunday school anywhere are cordially invited to come and register for the new school year. There are classes for all ages. There will be four high school classes this year for those who attend the high school and who wish to take the Bible courses outlined by the State Education Department in preparation for the Regents' examinations. Already a number of new pupils have entered the school, and all are looking forward to the class rooms and other facilities which will be provided by the new building now in process of construction.

COOKERY DEMONSTRATION AT HOME SERVICE CLASSES.

In the Home Service Auditorium of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation at 5 Field Court, Miss Nellie Davenport, home service director for Kingston, will demonstrate oven cooking on Wednesday evening at 7:30, and on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Oven cooking eliminates the need for oven watching—and an entire meal can be safely left there until time to serve it, when the oven is equipped with a heat regulator. One of these meals, including meat, vegetables and dessert—all oven cooked—will be prepared by Miss Davenport at this week's meetings.

All women are invited to attend, and they are sure to find in this modern cookery a new freedom and ease, and escape from hours of "kitchen duty."

Civil Service Examinations.

New Hat Fashions Created in Paris

Smallish Designs in Favor;
Revival of Toque Is Also Predicted.

"Crowns lower and brims, if any, wider," decreed Paris months ago, but it is only now that the effect of her mandate is becoming generally apparent, says a Paris correspondent in the New York Times. For the matter of that, the Parisienne herself has not yet fully obeyed that ruling, for she accepts very reluctantly a wide-brimmed hat. Lower crowns, yes, hats without any brims at all, yes, but wide hats, no. She objects that the present styles require a small, neat head outline, and so, though London has not hesitated to adopt the really wide hat and looks extremely smart in it, Paris has insisted on compromising with a brim, capeline in effect, but not more than three inches and more often nearer two inches deep, and this compromise is accepted by the milliners as the basis of the fall hat fashion in brims. Low round crowns hugging the head and drooping unstiffened brims averaging around something over two inches deep at sides and front but shorter in back. So run the new instructions. Revival of interest in and general adoption of close-fitting toques, new and interesting versions of the present aviator-cap hats, is predicted. Omnipresent felt remains the material most favored. At times the hat is entirely of velvet, but of a velvet so manipulated that the seamless round-crown and soft-brim characteristic of a felt hat are still in evidence. Whether feathers appear again or not, jeweled ornaments are unanimously voted for. Self-colored embrodery in padded scroll designs, adorns many of the hats at the Madison Lewis.

In colors the shades for fall include various nuances in brown, mahogany, cordovan and old gold, as well as the lighter tones of beige and tans for contrast with the costume. Black will occupy its immemorially honored place, while the lighter shades will run the whole gamut of pinky tones from brick and deep rose to strawberries and cream.

Black and Gold Colors in Costume Jewelry

Black and gold, which promised to set a vogue in colors for fall wear, are seen in the new costume jewelry. Some shops show necklaces which feature strands of gold beads in graduated lengths, the whole being held in place by a broad clasp, also of gold. Then there are necklaces made of lozenge-shaped links, long and short, which alternate to form a chain. In still another type of gold necklace coils of fine gold wire are twisted around each other. These necklaces vary in length from the choker to the opera type. They are rather Victorian in feeling and so are quite in keeping with the return to femininity in fashion prophesied for fall.

Light Chiffon Velvets
Used for Evening Gowns

The chiffon velvets which dressmakers are using extensively for evening models is the lightest that has yet been produced by the fabric makers. Some of it vies with Rodier's mousseline for lightness.

Its extreme suppleness makes it an ideal material for the loose panels and circular draperies which are used on nearly all the straight-line dresses in the new collections.

Spanish Effect

A chiffon evening frock has its scari attached to the belt in front and extending over one shoulder like a Spanish matador's.

Patou Creates Autumn Models in a Spirit of Elegance.

At left, Patou has replaced the usual jumper and skirt by a one-piece sports dress of brown woolen mixture and grege jersey in a pointed yoke effect. The accompanying coat is of the straight but ample sports type and is shorter than the dress.

In the center is one of the smartest coats of all the collections. It is of Faune Velvet. In Patou's new brown, luxuriously bordered in fox lined the lighter dots de rose shade, which he also features.

At the right, Patou has used black Georgette, tucked in bias lines on the bodice. Wide Pleated Panels at Front and Back Give the Skirt an Eleven Drip Hemline.

new Silhouettes Permit Great Variety—Royal Purple and Other Deep Tones Command Attention for Evening.

New York—Among the causes for bankfulness is the fact that the average woman finds the new modes not only wearable but helpful in accentuating her best points. Severely plain clothes are apt to be difficult to wear, so that the present movement of elaboration may prove, after all, a blessing in disguise. What if it does require more yardage for a dress or a coat, or that it is necessary to delve more deeply into one's budget to buy furs and velvet? What indeed, if the result justifies it all, as it really does.

The new and variable lines are charming; the new colors, flattering; the soft lustrous fabrics, nothing if not alluring. Besides all this, there is so much in detail that is exceedingly interesting.

The Patou trio sketched indicates the catholicity of current fashions.

For evening, the scope is even larger, almost every thing under the high canopy of heaven being permitted in silhouette. It is not merely a question of choice, excepting where the wardrobe is limited, but of mood.

Royal purple is cited as one of the most effective of Paris night tones. Indeed, there seem to be many curious color preferences, the deeper tones having the best of it for evening.

WOMEN SHOW PREFERENCE FOR ELABORATE DRESSES, LEAVING SIMPLICITY IN THE LURCH.

New York.—In discussing current fashions, a woman who buys dresses for one of the most important specialty shops in New York made the interesting statement that a demand for elaborate clothes had sprung up overnight. She declared that women had gone from the extreme of the two-piece jumper frock to the extreme of the tiered or circular one in about the twinkling of an eye and that the manufacturers were caught napping.

Of course, one cannot have kept up with the fashion news of the day without having felt that some such changes were in the air. Shop-winsows now give one an impression of being all dressed up, in more ways than one. It is with difficulty that some of us accustom ourselves, to frills and ripples, to furbelows and to garnitures where before we had more or less unrippled surfaces and fewer complications in line.

The model sketched is not exceptional, but rather typical of what the younger set at least will wear this fall. A dress rather on the same lines that was imported for a fortunate young person of seventeen was of Lanvin blue taffeta, the skirt having three tiers of scalloped lace, of the fine silk blonde variety, each tier sprinkled with oval dots of graduating size.

Flattened against the waist-line, where some shirring occurred at the side, was a bow-knot of pastel pink ribbon, shirred and forming a charming color contrast at a point, which clearly accented the slightly fitted waist-line. The bow-knot, by the way, is one of the season's favored motifs. Lanvin is credited with introducing it ever so charmingly on evening wraps and dresses.

FOOD EXHIBITS AT FAIRS

The more people who bring their food and garden products to the fairs the more interest is taken and more knowledge gained. Thousands of women are annually disappointed, often discouraged and decide never to bother to enter a contest again, because of lack of understanding of the requirements of entry and often (though not as often as formerly) because of poor judgment in decisions rendered.

Take jelly for example—flavor, consistency, color, transparency and general appearance all must be considered.

Score cards are worked out by those qualified by training as well as by experience, and these should be the criterion by which all judging is done. At every fair there should be an effort made to explain the score card for judging so that every person who has an exhibit may understand why she did, or did not, win.

In places where this method has been followed the women strive to reach the standards set and are more intelligent as to what is required. The following year shows a marked improvement as well as greater interest in the exhibits. Don't make remarks for the judge to hear like this: "That is my fruit cake; I have taken the first prize every year for three years with that recipe." Such remarks never bring the desired results. If the judge is the right kind of person, it antagonizes rather than increases her regard for the prize recipe. She will be fair in her judgment no matter who is offended. We hear, too, women say: "This is the kind of jelly or bread that I like," when both products are poor in color and appearance. If judging, such a person will give prizes to the food she likes, thinking it is the best product. Unless we can cultivate a taste for the standardized and perfect article, or can keep our likes and dislikes in the background, we are unfitted to judge foods.

The astonishing thing about Eve is that she landed the first man so quickly without a porch-swing.

Exploding Health Superstitions

State Health Commissioner Nichols Discusses Some Foolish Beliefs, Including Efficacy of Asafetida Bags and Horse Chestnuts.

In discussing superstitions about health, Dr. Matthias Nicol, Jr., state commissioner of health, says that the only way a bag of asafetida hung around the neck can ward off sickness is when the unpleasant odor keeps away persons coming down with an infectious disease. His talk on the subject of Health Superstitions was broadcast one night recently from Station WGY.

"There are those," said Dr. Nicol, "who may believe in the rhyme which insures good luck to one who picks up a pin but there are others who would scorn the proverbial pin lost their friends think them superstitious. On the other hand these same people are often superstitious about anything which concerns their health.

"Superstitions are based on fear—foolish beliefs that certain things are unlucky, or that others are lucky. While superstitions do not appeal to those of us who are constantly dealing with cause and effect, we think of some with which nearly all will agree.

"Some people are afraid to consult a physician on Friday, but it might be extremely unlucky for them if they should become ill with appendicitis or some other acute disease on that day of the week and put off consulting a physician until Saturday.

When People Are Unlucky.

"If you happen to be standing directly in front of a person with a cold or other infectious disease of the air passages when he sneezes or coughs without covering his mouth and nose you may consider yourself unlucky for such diseases are frequently spread in this manner.

"Just what started the superstition that a horse chestnut carried in the pocket keeps rheumatism away is not recorded in medical archives. If there were any truth in this,

Ohio, the 'Buckeye' State, so-called because horse chestnut trees are abundant there, should be remarkably free from the disease, but statistics do not bear this out.

"Over forty years ago, before the discovery of the specific germ of the disease, sewer gas was supposed to be capable of causing diphtheria. Possibly a few people still believe it. At all events the effect of this exploded idea is still to be found in some present day plumbing regulations. If the vast amount of money spent in support of this fallacy could be used in securing toxin-antitoxin treatment for every child, diphtheria would soon be as rare as yellow fever.

Where Germs Grow.

"Filtration does not breed disease, although many people still think so. Most disease germs which affect mankind will not grow outside the human body except in some material like milk, which furnishes them food for growth. On the other hand, dirty hands and dirty habits are often the means by which infection is carried from person to person.

"When a disease is prevalent there is, of course, a certain amount of chance as to whether one will or will not contract it. But do not be superstitious about the matter. Consult your health officer or the State Department of Health for advice. In many cases, preventive measures are available. Base your actions on fact, not on superstition.

"Luck lies mostly in forethought. It is certainly unlucky not to have a full measure of health and strength. Go to a doctor once a year and have a physical examination. It is much cheaper and far more satisfactory to keep well than to get well."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE STARS

In the remotest of evening, not very long ago, when every one said how bright the stars seemed to be? Well, they were having a banquet. You see, for several days before, they had all the stars to be out on a certain night—for they think it is a banquet when every star is shining as brightly as it possibly can.

And the stars who arranged for this banquet banquet, as they called it, sent around the shooting stars as their messengers to tell every little star just the evening it must shine so brightly.

The shooting stars are such quick messengers that they can take around the invitations and directions more quickly than any other messengers any star can think of having.

Then, of course, they understand all the stars have to say.

At this banquet they had two very, very famous guests, and proud indeed they were that they could have two such fine personages at their banquet. For usually, they said, one fine guest was enough of an honor.

They All Had Breakfast Together.

The first was the Moon King. Now, when the Old Man in the Moon wears his robes of silver-gray and around his head a golden crown, then he calls himself the Moon King.

It is only when he is going to a splendid banquet that he does that, as usually he enjoys being the Old Man in the Moon much more.

And the Moon King looked very bright and dazzling and handsome.

He didn't grin as much as he usually does, but looked very solemn and as he thought a king ought to look.

Then the banquet began. They all sat at a long table along the Milky Way, and the fairies, with their golden wands and crowns, arrived just as the banquet was commencing.

They came up in their chariots of clouds, which were driven by four bright stars.

They looked so bright that real people could never have looked at them at all.

After the banquet had lasted some time their other fine guest arrived—but their first noted guest left before-hand, for the two noted guests didn't get along so well together.

Away hurried the Moon King, and in his place came Prince Red Sun.

"Hurry, hurry up, hurry up!" shouted the stars. "We're getting very sleepy, and must be off to bed."

And they all had one fine glimpse of the famous Prince Red Sun.

Then they crept back to their beds in the clouds and the bonfires all went out.

But the fairies in their golden costumes and the gorgeous Prince Red Sun in his banquet costume thought they had better continue the banquet for a little longer.

So they all had breakfast together—and that was why the grown-ups down on the earth said they had never before seen such a beautiful sunrise.

PRIZE WINNER ROLLS IN RICHES FOR TWO HOURS

Paris Teller Gets 10,000 Francs but Has to Spend All in 120 Minutes.

Paris.—The spectacle of a man spending, under compulsion, 10,000 francs in two hours recently caused much amusement to those who were privileged to know of the performance. It was brought about by the periodical "Candida," which awarded, in a certain competition, a prize of 10,000 francs, on the condition that the winner should spend it all within the space of two hours. He was of course to be closely watched by representatives of the periodical during that time, not merely to make sure that he spent all the money, but also—and indeed chiefly—to observe how he spent it and thus obtain material for an interesting story about the manner in which a Parisian, unused to luxury, would spend a suddenly acquired fortune.

The winner of the prize was M. Gravier, a bank clerk on a small salary. On receiving the money he assumed the name of "Mr. Barnabooth," pretending to be an American millionaire. His first performance at the beginning of the two-hour period was to hire the most luxurious and expensive automobile he could find, of course with a liveried chauffeur, and then to drive in it to a travelers' office to order for himself and family a salon compartment in an airplane for a flight to England. He also had some of his money converted into English money, to the extent of ten pounds. A tip of 50 francs went to the porter who opened for him the door of his automobile when he emerged from the office.

Next he secured for the evening a high-priced box at the opera, halting on the way to bestow alms of 1,000 francs upon a ragged beggar woman at a street corner. A box of the most expensive imported cigars and a costly cigar case further depleted his funds, and then he went to one of the most fashionable restaurants and ordered a sumptuous dinner, including the most costly bottle of wine that he could discover on the list. The net result was that within the two hours he so completely accustomed himself to the role of a millionaire American that he actually overran his prize money and spent 200 francs of his own meager funds.

FOR miles they stretched across the prairie and up into the foothills, smooth, clearly marked, beaten hard as rock through the centuries by the hoofs of buffalo on their way to the salt licks.

WHEN the railways came, and the engineers were confronted with the great bastion of the Rocky Mountains, these buffalo trails assumed a new significance. It was found that they always followed the easiest gradients, that they penetrated the mountain fastnesses by the most direct and practical route.

BUFFALO trails became one of the greatest assets of the early railway builders. Time, money, energy, were conserved; a vast amount of fruitless pioneering and surveying was eliminated, by trusting to the infallible instinct which had led the herds along these obscure and little-known ways.

ADVERTISING, like those old buffalo trails, provides a clear and unmistakable path among the perplexities of modern buying. It points the way to the goal of safety and sound value; it avoids the pitfalls of unknown and unreliable goods. By following the advertisements in this paper you are following the high road to true economy.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Three National League pennant contenders today entered the final stretch, with a world series representative still undetermined but with the scales pointing slightly in favor of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Donie Bush's club can clinch the 1927 championship by winning four of the remaining five contests. By winning three out of the five while the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals were taking all their games, the Pirates would be a party to a three cornered tie for first place. The season ends next Sunday.

Today's standings showed the Pirates two full games to the good at the top of the heap. The Bucs went on to Chicago and opened up with a two game victory over the Cubs. Aldridge bested Guy Bush in the opener, 2-1, Chicago's lone run being the result of Heathcote's homer. Pittsburgh batted Charlie Root out of the second game and won by a 6-1 count.

The Cardinals, by taking two games from the Boston Braves, advanced into second place. Bob O'Farrell's world champions won the opener, 4-1, triples by Orsatti and Bottomley driving in the winning margin. St. Louis had a spirited night to annex the windup, 6-5. "Pete" Alexander came to Reinhardt's rescue when the Braves began to solve the southpaw's offerings.

Jess Petty was in rare form and he stopped the New York Giants in their tracks before 35,000 fans at Ebbetts Field. Neither team scored and the contest was called in the seventh because of darkness. It will be played as part of a double-header or on an open date this week.

While the standstill had no material effect on the Giants' pennant chances, it did throw an added burden on McGraw's team. An eleventh hour upset seemed to be in the making with Pittsburgh going badly last week. The Corsairs now seem to be "in," although their path this week may be stormy.

Philadelphia stopped Cincinnati, 8-3, hammering Beckman, a recruit, for a commanding lead. Miller Huggins sent Walter Hoyt to the mound in the final game of the Detroit series but the Yankee ace was not equal to the task and the Tigers gained a 6-1 decision. Whitehill's pitching was about all that could be asked. He fanned Gehrig twice with men on bases, allowed only six hits and had rare control. Babe Ruth failed to get a home run and must hit three of them in the four remaining games on the New York schedule to tie his record of 59 made in 1921.

Old Tom Zachary pitched Washington to 10-0 victory over his former team-mates, the St. Louis Browns. Tom scattered seven hits while the Senators hit often against Wingard, Vandiller and Crowder. Cleveland drew close to fifth place in the standing by trouncing the Chicago White Sox, 10-1. Hudlin had a shut out in hand until the ninth, when he walked two men, one of whom scored on the next play.

END OF THE $2,658,660 FIGHT

Dempsey congratulating Tunney at finish of Chicago heavy-weight battle that set new record for gate receipts, out of which champion received a cool million.

Dempsey Sends Protest Letter

To State Commissioner, Asking That Decision Be Reversed—Jack Is Standing By His Manager.

Chicago, Sept. 26 (P).—What appeal Jack Dempsey and his manager, Leo Flynn, may file with the powers that control professional boxing, the decision that gave Gene Tunney last Thursday's championship fight seemed today as indelible and ineradicable as that spectacular fight itself.

Dempsey and Flynn, before leaving yesterday for New York on the same train that carried Tex Rickard, the promoter, said that a letter had been written the Illinois Boxing Commission asking it to award the heavyweight championship to Dempsey. The claim is based upon the knockdown Dempsey scored in the seventh round and the disputed count that followed as Tunney remained on the canvas.

Dempsey said he had sent the following telegram to the state commission: "My manager, Leo J. Flynn, and myself are preparing a formal letter which will arrive at your office Tuesday morning, asking you to reverse the decision and declare Jack Dempsey the winner by a knock-out over Gene Tunney."

Flynn indicated that an appeal would be made to the National Boxing Commission in the event that the Illinois Commission stuck to its determination to uphold the decision that gave Tunney the fight. The National Boxing Commission is an association of the commissions of 13 states, banded together for the purpose of uniform regulations of boxing.

To those familiar with the operation of the National Commission it seemed most improbable that it would offer much solace to Flynn. The general opinion was that the National Commission holds no power to overrule a member state commission.

Dempsey's associates have pointed out that Dempsey himself was not inclined to file a protest over the decision, but that he felt duty-bound to stand by his manager. Flynn has been insistent that the decision permitting Tunney to continue after the knockdown in the 7th was unfair.

John Riggheimer, chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, said that the fight, so far as the commission is concerned, is "a closed book." "Nothing will make us change our verdict, which was unanimous in favor of Tunney," Riggheimer said.

Warringtons Victors. The Warrington All-Stars defeated the Kingston Cardinals Sunday, 9-3. Snyder, Post and Lewis were the big factors in winning the game.

The Warringtons would like to book a game for next Sunday. Arrangements may be made with Dick Warrington at Burgevin's flower store.

Locals to Fight At Po'keepsie

Billy Grupp, Promoter, to Adhere to State Commission's Rulings—Mike McTigue to Be Present.

Charlie Fisher and Roy Van Buren, two popular Kingston pugilists, and Joe Vossick, fist of Saugerties, will box at Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie, on Wednesday night. The card of contests in the Bridge City will be promoted by Billy Grupp under the rules of the New York State Boxing Commission.

Fisher will stack up against Irish Joe Haley, who will perform in the ring instead of Jackie Reed, at first signed to scrap with the local man. The contest is expected to be one of the snappiest six rounders on the bill. There will be another sextet of rounds fought by Harry London and Albert Brown, 126 pounders, from the Metropolitan.

Torrey Van Buren will meet Patsy Tortorelli in a four rounder while Joe Vossick of Saugerties will do a quartet of stanzas with Jerry Samperi of Poughkeepsie.

George Jackson, better known hereabouts as Gene Mack, will perform in the headliner against Eddie (Ghost) Clark, a New York boxer.

Mike McTigue, light weight champion of the world and friend of Billy Grupp, will be present at Woodcliff Park and the fans will have the honor of seeing the veteran ringman, who will no doubt make a short address.

MANY RUMORS AFTER CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT

New York, Sept. 26 (P).—A growing aftermath of championship fights, the rumors of accident and death to one of the principals, has sprung anew in New York over the result of the Dempsey-Tunney battle at Chicago.

Newspaper offices and news services have been besieged with inquiries regarding Tunney's condition. The champion came through the fight without any serious injury, yet inquirers wanted to know if it was true that he had died from blows or had been taken to a hospital.

Tunney plans to arrive in New York tomorrow.

All-Stars Hold Teams Scoreless

Guldy All-Stars and Rondout A. C. Blanked at Fair Grounds—Fans Were Few.

The Kingston All-Stars were victorious against the Guldy All-Stars, 2-0, and the Rondout A. C., 3-0, in a dual bill at the Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon. The games, although interesting, had little attraction at the gate for the customers numbered about 100.

Dexey Van Buren took the mound for the All-Stars in the curtain raiser and allowed one hit, registered by Bob Lynch in the ninth inning. The Gulds played errorless ball but also kept their run column blank. The All-Stars were fortunate in collecting a run in the first stanza but were unable to get a hit for the following four innings. Pres Knight, who was the star of the contest for the All-Stars, registered in the sixth but was unable to score. In the eighth he connected with one of Nichols' slants and scored Marty Carr, who made this third hit of the contest.

In the game with the Rondout A. C., the All-Stars proved invincible and although two errors marked their performance they kept the Seventh Ward aggregation from scoring. Six blows were collected from Hank Cragan, All-Star twirler, while he and his teammates touched Ken Best for ten wallops. Cragan collected three of the ten.

PAN-AMS VICTORIOUS OVER CONNELLY NINE. The Pan-Am baseball club took two contests from the Hasbrouck Engine Company of Connelly Sunday afternoon at the Saugerties road diamond. The old men snatched the first 11-1 and in the night-cap turned out an 11-3 victory.

Celuch held the firemen to four hits in the curtain-raiser and they bunched two in the eighth for their lone tally. Thirteen Hasbroucks took the bench after fanning. Paul Joyce, after his teammates gained a big lead in the opening stanza, held the Connelly boys in check throughout the rest of the game.

Eye Accidents Cause Heavy Loss

Probably Stand First in Loss to Worker, Says State Industrial
Commissioner Hamilton—Compensation Payments $1,703,233.

Albany, September 25.—In the huge bill every year for accidents to workers, injuries to the eye are one of the most serious and costly accidents. Only a few other injuries, such as maiming of the hand, arm or leg cost more in money than eye injuries, and in actual loss to the worker and suffering beyond any handicap in his work, eye accidents probably stand first, said Industrial Commissioner James A. Hamilton today.

In the year 1926-1927, among the compensation cases closed by the New York State Department of Labor, eye injuries alone called for compensation payments of $1,703,233. This is exclusive of medical and hospital care, and represents compensation for only two-thirds of the estimated wage loss of the worker.

Two workers died, and ten were left totally blinded as a result of accidents in the course of their work. Three of the cases of total blindness came from explosions. But the two fatal accidents and one case of total blindness came from small flying particles thrown off while workers were using ordinary hand tools. These last three accidents alone cost over $25,000 in compensation payments, although one worker left no dependents. In addition again were the medical bills, the cost of handling insurance, and the cost of administering the law, while the workers were handicapped for life.

In the same year there were 786 workers who permanently lost part or all the sight of one eye, and 2,150 who suffered injuries lasting more than a week, but whose sight was not finally impaired.

Importance of First Aid.

Some firms which early recognized the seriousness of eye accidents have tried to lessen the danger by requiring that only a doctor or nurse, or some other trained responsible person should be permitted to remove cinders, dust or anything else from a worker's eye. The importance of early treatment is very great. In minor eye accidents the compensation awards averaged three or four weeks. In serious eye injuries the awards averaged more than one hundred weeks. Serious eye accidents in 1926-1927 averaged $14,386 apiece. There is no type of injury where the difference between mild and serious cases is so great.

Hand Tools Are Most Dangerous to Eyes.

In the search for causes for this large number of accidents, one fact stands out. Of 786 cases of partial or total blindness last year, 410 were caused by flying particles, and 266 of these were chips set in motion by hand tools. Chisels, screw drivers and hammers are the "dangerous machines" that cause workers to lose the sight of their eyes. Another serious type of accident is the breaking of the tool itself. The careful inspection of tools and the use only of tools in perfect condition have been stressed over and over in the principles of scientific management. Tools that slip and break not only waste good material. They may waste good eyesight.

Of the accidents charged to flying particles a good many were probably due to the careless use of simple tools. Accident reports which say "chip flew in worker's eye" cannot be used to locate dangerous practices and to help prevent future accidents.

In addition to the permanent injuries there were over a thousand eye accidents due to hand tools or flying particles, where there was no permanent loss of sight, but where the compensation bill alone amounted to $58,905 for one year.

Eye Accidents Might Be Reduced Almost One-Half.

If means could be found to reduce the accidents from these one or two causes, permanent eye injuries in industry might be cut down about one-half.

Among the other causes, lime burns, burns of hot metal, abrasive and grinding wheels, and portable power tools cause serious accidents but together they do not begin to equal the damage caused by hand tools and flying particles. The important thing about this is that not that abrasive wheels and molten metal are less dangerous, or that fewer workers are exposed to them. On the contrary the hazard and the exposure are both great. Because the hazards were conspicuous and because they were concentrated in a few places, it was possible to anticipate the danger and make provision by goggles for the workers, or shields for the work, to prevent many of these accidents.

Hand tools on the other hand are not conspicuous. Few accidents occur in each place. It is only where the statistics are all tabulated and the scattered cases are put together, and the impressive total of suffering and loss is made known, that such accidents receive the attention they deserve.

Among the separate industries, factories have the largest number of eye accidents, but they have much the largest group of workers. The construction industry is a very close second in the number of serious eye injuries. Hand tools cause more accidents in building work than in factories. There is a noticeably large number of injuries from hand tools and from flying particles in transportation, and also in trade.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Stock prices turned reactionary after an early display of strength today. Selling was believed to have been inspired largely by fears of a huge increase in brokers' loans this week and as a result of the conversion of General Motors stocks. Banks called about $19,999,999 in loans during the morning but call money appeared to be in plentiful supply around the Federal Reserve of four per cent.

Outside the stock market, chief interest centered in the sharp rise of $2.50 a bale in cotton on reports of unfavorable crop weather in the southwest.

Strength and activity of the public utilities, a dozen of which attained new peak prices, featured the early trading. Moderate gains also were recorded in a number of mercantile, food, oil, tobacco and motor shares.

Renewal of selling pressure against the steel shares reflected disappointment over the failure of the expected fall pickup in demand and operations to materialize. Bear traders launched another offensive against some of the specialties, breaking New York Air Brake 5 1/2 points on the publication of a poor semi-annual earnings report, and bringing about a similar decline in Houston Oil in the afternoon.

Such recent favorites as Texas Gulf Sulphur, American Smelting, Kelly Springfield 8 per cent preferred, Gouldrich Rubber, General Electric and Commercial Solvents, also sagged 2 points or more under the weight of selling for both accounts. Trading was not very active, however, on the decline, indicating the absence of any large volume of forced liquidation at these levels.

HARD WORK BRINGS OWN REWARD

President James B. Hill, of N. C. & St. L. R. R., (right) presenting certificate of merit to W. W. Harris, 35 years in service of road, at Atlanta, Ga. (International Illustrated News)

Hill's Rise to Power Like an Alger Novel

ATLANTA, GA. (I-I-N).—A romance of real life that exceeds any story-book romance of Horatio Alger, Jr., has for its hero, James B. Hill, who, in 30 years of hard work, rose from assistant telegraph operator to president of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad.

Recently Mr. Hill presented service buttons and certificates of merit to 504 employees of the road in this city, and when asked his recipe for success tersely gave this one:

Put more on the job than it requires. Learn something about the job ahead of you. Study as many things as you can, regardless of whether they are directly related to your work.

Avoid "blind alleys" in your business by changing to another department if there is no chance for advancement where you are.

Mr. Hill is 49 years old. He entered the service of the railroad at Sparta, Tenn., when 19 years of age, and was elected president of the same road in March, 1924.

Joint Meeting for Rondout Valley

"In unity there is strength" seems to be the slogan in the upper Rondout valley this fall, and the three communities of Napanoch, Wawarsing and Kerhonkson all met at Kerhonkson Friday to hear Miss Doris Sonnenday, nutrition specialist, from Cornell.

Kerhonkson Home Bureau began the meeting with one of the loveliest luncheons the specialist claims ever to have had in the state. It was indeed a fine example of what Home Bureau teaching in nutrition can bring to a community.

After luncheon a short business meeting was held, after which members of the Napanoch and Wawarsing Home Bureaus arrived to hear Miss Sonnenday. A food exhibit was shown which added much to the value of the lesson given by Miss Sonnenday. There was a good crowd out. Many were the comments on the value of these joint meetings, and no doubt a precedent has been set in the county that will result in many more joint meetings in the various communities.

Largest of Telescopes Is Found to Be Too Big

Pasadena, Calif.—Scientists have found that in making the world's largest telescope they made it much bigger than necessary. The 100-foot dome which houses the 101-inch mirrored telescope at Mount Wilson observatory, among Pasadena, could just as well have been only 40 feet in diameter. An instrument approximately 60 per cent smaller, according to Dr. G. Ritchie, who designed the record-stargazing apparatus.

The smaller size, he said, would have been equally effective. This will have no effect on work now progressing on Mount Wilson. Dr. F. G. Pease of the observatory staff said after receiving information of the new finding from Doctor Ritchie.

Practical importance lies in the greatly reduced possible cost of constructing still larger telescopes, Doctor Pease said. A model embodying the new idea has been constructed and named the "aplanatic telescope." Like the great Mount Wilson instrument, this also is of the reflector type, in which a mirror takes the place of the usual lenses. A concave mirror reflects the starlight back toward the star to a smaller mirror, from which it travels back again, through a hole in the larger mirror, to the eye of the observer. Scientists found a new method of making the mirror, thus reducing the length of the telescope. In the model the mirror is about 10 1/2 inches in diameter, though the entire telescope is less than four feet long.

Doctor Pease has suggested plans for an instrument with 300-inch mirror to cost approximately $12,000,000.

Kingston District Rural Assembly

The second annual Kingston District Rural Assembly met at the hospitable Smith Hotel at Hensonville Tuesday afternoon, September 20, and continued until Friday under the able leadership of Dr. George Benton Smith, district superintendent. There was not a moment during these three days but what something worth while and of an uplifting character was taking place. Messages of unusual merit were delivered by the following: Dr. E. P. Hayes, Madison, N. J., "China, and Draw Endowment;" Dr. Langdale, superintendent, Brooklyn South District, "Evangelism;" Dr. C. F. Reiser, New York city, "Personal Work;" Dr. F. W. Stacey, Poughkeepsie, "Church Training Night;" Dr. W. H. Lofthouse, "Greetings from Poughkeepsie District;" Dr. T. S. Bond, Kingston, and the Rev. E. Gates, Saugerties, "General Conference Amendments;" Mrs. D. N. Secore, Kingston, "Epworth League Program;" Howard Kennedy Troy, Laymen's Responsibility;" and Bishop Luther B. Wilson, New York city, "The Investments of Life."

Four men were recommended for admission in the annual conference and one for license to preach at the district conference held in the Methodist Church on Thursday.

The singing was timely, directed by the Rev. C. W. Smith, Roxbury; solos were rendered by Mrs. V. H. Reinhart, Coeymans Hollow and Mrs. H. H. Black, Tannersville, with Mrs. E. R. Tracy of Grand Gorge and the Rev. V. H. Reinhart at the piano. The Rev. Mr. Truby of Bloomingdale taking care of the finances.

The Rev. G. Robinson, Catskill, was chosen leader of the Men's Movement and the Rev. C. J. Kell, Athens, president of the Rural Society.

The majority of the ministers of the Kingston district were present and the laymen likewise for the district conference. The enthusiasm kindled and the inspiration and help brought out by the several sessions caused a unanimous vote for the gathering next year.
